

Ted Chubb grew up in a household surrounded by music in Ashtabula Oh. He began playing the trumpet at the age of 10, and found his passion for jazz at 15. Ted's passion for jazz led him to pursue music at the Ohio State University. During this time Ted performed with Midwest jazz legends Gene Walker and Bobby Floyd. He also toured regionally and abroad with the Afro-Rican ensemble.

In 2003, Ted enrolled in the graduate program at Rutgers University in New Jersey to study with master trumpet teacher William Fielder. During his studies Ted became involved in the NYC jazz scene playing with artists such as Cecil Brooks III, Bruce Williams, Brad Leali, Jerome Jennings, Kyle Kohler, Billy Hart, Alvester Garnet, and Kenny Davis. Ted has appeared on ABC's Nightline news with the Cecil's Big band, and "The Tonight Show with Jay Leno" performing with "Jersey Boys". Ted has appeared at jazz festivals across the globe in Austria, Switzerland, France, and St. Lucia. In 2006 Ted was a participant in The Betty Carter Jazz Ahead program at the Kennedy Center.

Ted co-leads the dynamic jazz quartet "New Tricks" with veteran saxophonist Mike Lee. New Tricks released their self-titled record in 2009 and released their 2nd record "Alternate Side" in 2011. New Tricks has toured throughout the country performing at the nations finest clubs, universities, high schools, and jazz festivals.

Ted has a passion for sharing jazz with students and is an active educator and teaches private lessons, ensembles, and workshops. He has also performed clinics with New Tricks at Oberlin College, Indiana University, and many other major universities and high schools.

From 2006- 2011 Ted toured with the First National Tour of the Tony award winning Broadway show "Jersey Boys".
